6 million Syrian Refugees are spread out in countries neighboring Syria such as Turkey, Lebanon, Jordan, and more. More than 70% are women and children. United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees state men, young adults and children devoted to feeding the family by working in the black market earn 1-2 dollars per day.

There are 6 million internally displaced persons (IDPs) within Syria. Due to security concerns, daily supplies are even more difficult to get than for refugees outside of the country. Limited capacity of NGOs permitted to operate in Syria is also cited as a challenge to assistance.

In Middle East culture, when the father dies, a close relative will take care the entire family. Early marriage is reported as a concern. Children's education is their last priority and often forgotten. United Nations calls Syria "The Lost Generation".

You can break "The Lost Generation" by helping give one child some education or vocational training.

Imagine yourself one of the Syrian refugee children, and a foreigner gives you a chance and hope. It is a child's future. It's a child's life. Imagine what WE can do together.

Sponsor one of the students in Nexus Center and House of Hope (they are Syrian refugee children and IDP children) to support the rent of the Center and playground, salaries of teachers, food, books etc.

Here's How
